

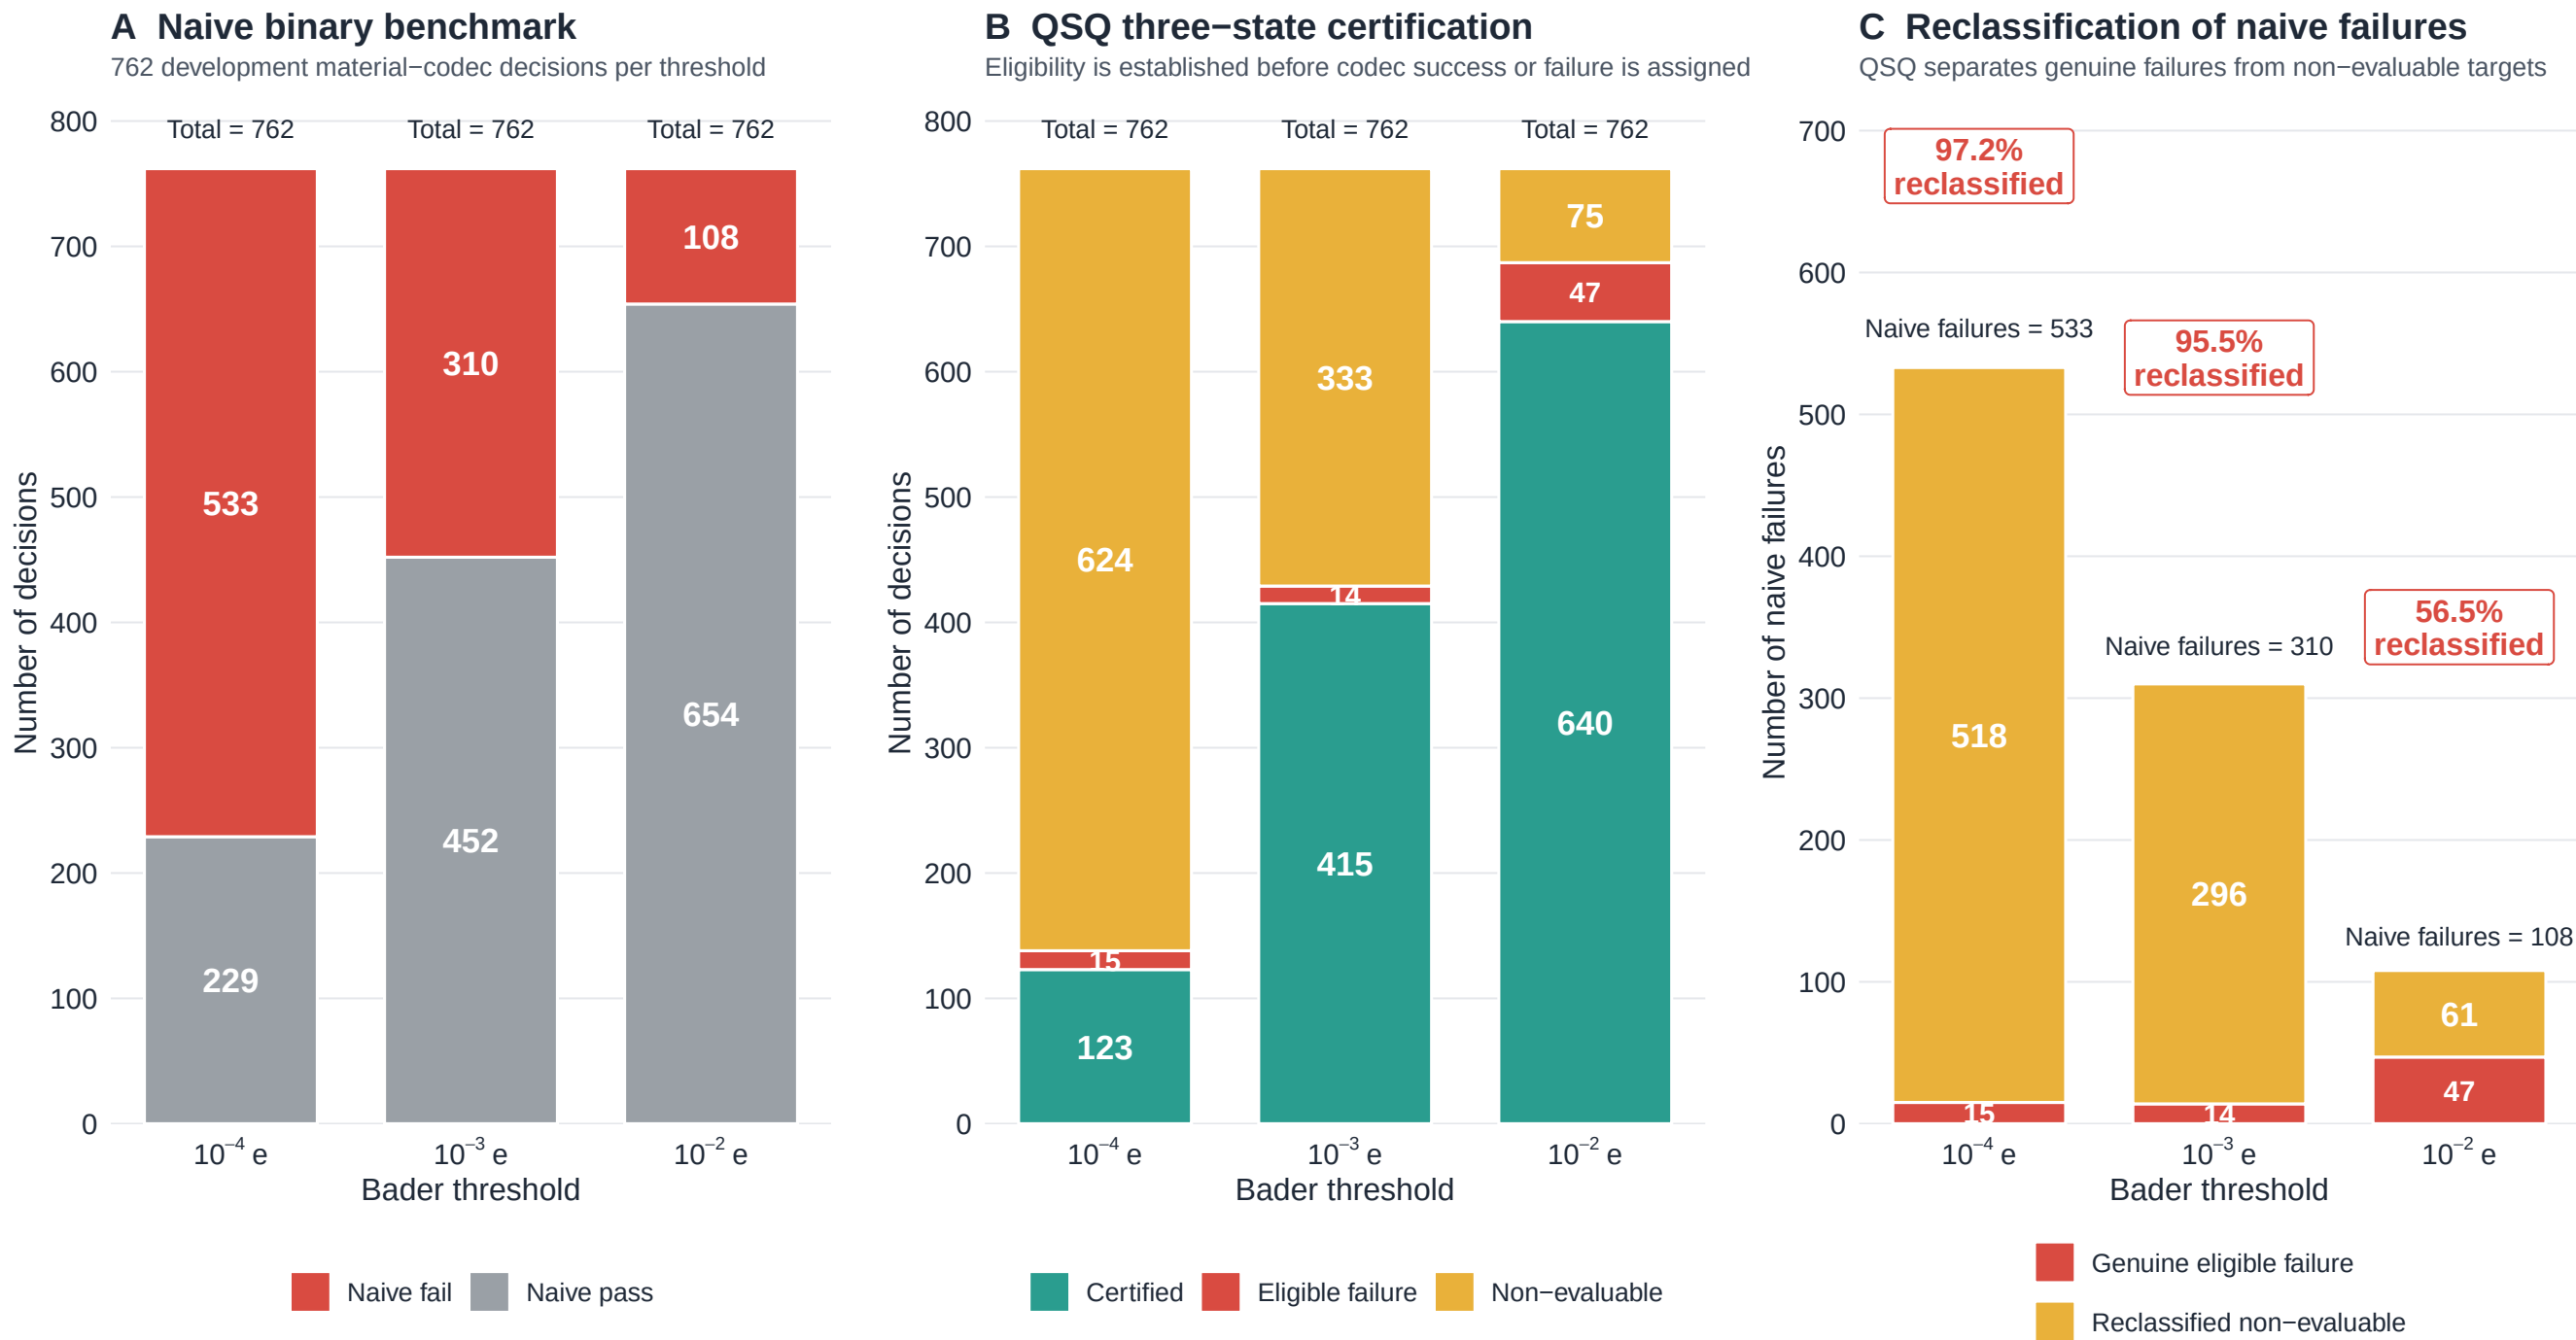

Figure 3 | Binary benchmark vs stability-qualified three-state certification

Key takeaway

At strict Bader contracts, most apparent codec failures are not genuine compressor failures; they occur on material-threshold pairs that are non-evaluable under independent QoI Stability Qualification (QSQ). Eligibility also invalidates apparent passes: 106/229 (46.3%) at 10^{-4} e.